How to Sell a Product on Amazon

There are many benefits to selling your products on large online marketplaces such as Amazon, Etsy and Ebay. It not only helps customers to locate products more easily, but also help the sellers expose their products to a much larger market. As of 2016, Amazon was the largest internet-based retailer in the world by total sales.

There are only few steps required before you can start selling on Amazon. Below is a list information that you will need to have in order to create an account with Amazon and begin selling products online:

1. Credit Card
   You will need a credit card for the payment methods.

2. Tax Information
   Whether you are U.S. tax payer or not, you will still need to complete the tax information. For U.S. taxpayers, you can use your social security number (SSN) or your business Taxpayer Identification Number (TIN). If you are a foreign seller, you will have to complete tax interview and submit Form W-8BEN to be exempt from U.S. tax reporting requirements.

3. An eligible product with a proper packaging
   Remember that your potential customers can be anywhere in this world. Therefore, make sure that your products are designed to be shipped and have a proper packaging to ensure that it will arrive to your customers as expected. There are some packaging guidelines you have to follow especially when you ship your product to Amazon warehouse.

   Complete Packaging Requirements:

   Also, refer to Amazon regulation to find out what products are prohibited and what products will require an approval before you can begin offering for sale.

   Product Categories:

4. A barcode
   Each item must have a UPC (Universal Product Code) or EAN (European Article Number) which is a barcode symbol for tracking trade items. A UPC consists of 12 numerical digits while a EAN consists of 13 numerical digits, that are uniquely assigned to each trade item. If you do not have one, you can buy one online from organizations such as www.speedybarodes.com or www.barcodestalk.com which usually cost from $5 - $7 each and less when you buy in larger quantities.

5. High resolution product image
   Amazon requires a high resolution image for the product listing and states that listing with missing a main image will not appear in search results until you add the image. The requirements include:
   - Products must fill at least 85% of the image. Images must show only the product that is for sale, with few or no props and with no logos, watermarks, or inset image. Images may only contain text that is a part of the product.
   - Main images must have a pure white background, must be a photo (not a drawing), and must not contain excluded accessories.
   - Images must be at least 1000 pixels on the longest side and at least 500 pixels on the shortest side to be zoom-able.
   - Images must not exceed 10000 pixels on the longest side.
   - JPEG is the preferred image format, but you also may use TIFF and GIF files.

   You might need to consider hiring a professional photographer for the best possible image results that fulfill the above requirements.

How to set-up a seller central account on Amazon

Signing up is easy, you can choose either a professional account or individual account. There is no monthly cost for an individual account, but there are more limitations on what product categories you can sell through, and you only able to sell up to 40 items per month. Therefore, even though it has a monthly fee, it is recommended to get a professional account which will give you more options and benefits.

Once you create the account, you will have the option to choose which market to sell through. Make sure you choose www.amazon.com as the initial selection because it has the largest market and you will have the option to sell your product directly to your customer. Once your sales expand enough you may want to try to add additional markets such as Canada, United Kingdom, or India.
To begin selling, first you need to add a new product in your inventory. You can select your product category and also the sub-category that best defines your product. For some categories that require approval, send the required information such as your supplier, logo, or image and the process of approval will usually take a few days. Next step, you have to complete the five categories which describe the new product just added. The five categories are:
